The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “interlock which operates in conjunction with said controls to disable operation of said sources unless said component is properly positioned to protect said selected portion”; the “diagnostic tool mounted on said mount”; and the “wireless connection” must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 3735

Claims 17 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-7, 9-15, 17-22, 24-28, 30, 31, and 35-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Russell.

Claims 1-7, 9-15, 17-22, 24-28, 30, 31, and 35-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Alexander et al.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 8, 23, 29, and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Russell or Alexander et al in combination with Eckhardt et al. Russell or Alexander et al teach a device as claimed except for the sensors that prevent the operation of the sources if the device is not properly positioned. Eckhardt et al teach an irradiation device with sensors that do not allow the device to be actuated unless the device is properly positioned. It would have been obvious to the artisan or ordinary skill to employ the sensors of Eckhardt et al in the apparatus and method of Russell or Alexander et al, since Russell or Alexander et al discuss the need for protecting certain areas of the body from exposure, thus producing a device and method such as claimed.

Claims 32, 33, and 43-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Russell or Alexander et al in combination with Altshuler et al. Russell or Alexander et al teach a device as claimed except for the diagnostic sensors that prevent the operation of the sources if the device is not properly positioned. Altshuler et al teach an irradiation device with diagnostic sensors that do not allow the device to be actuated unless the device is properly positioned. It would have been obvious to the artisan or ordinary skill to employ the sensors of Altshuler et al in the apparatus and method of Russell or Alexander et al, since this prevents undesired damage to the skin, as taught by Altshuler et al, and in either case to employ a wireless connection, since this is not critical; is well within the skill of one having ordinary skill in the art; would enable the illuminator to be used without tethering the user to the controller, thereby providing greater mobility, official notice of which is hereby taken; and provides no unexpected result, thus producing a device and method such as claimed.
